THE SEARCH FOR GOD.

He is not perceived by the eyes nor through speech nor any of our organs, nor by austerities nor any deeds

"Only the mind purified by wisdom in meditation finds Him Who is without parts."

God is not perceived by the eyes, but we see the manifestation of His spirit of wisdom in the spirit of man.

He is not heard by the organs of hearing, yet we are able to hear His commands.

He is beyond all our senses, yet we can experience the truth and grace of His nature and quench our thirst with His immortal love

Thus it is true that our senses can not apprehend Him, yet the relation of our spirit to Him is deep and intimate. By purifying the mind with wisdom in meditation we can perceive Him directly in our soul.

When we feel that He is watching over us in love and that His eyes of love are gazing into ours, then we know inwardly that we are one with Him. As His nature is one of love, so is ours too.

If we look on Him with indifference, we cannot understand His love. But if we seek Him with the longing of pure love, then a new image of beauty will rise before our minds.

Love cannot fulfil its own nature unless there is some one to love. The love with which God loves us is the same as that which draws our own souls to Him. He gives us the fulness of His love, and the meaning of our own life is fulfilled if we are able to give Him one drop of our love in return.

Like the tender love of a mother for her child, the love of God refreshes the whole world and the heart of every man He sees in each one of us a separate individual to love and satisfies the hunger for love in each individual heart. If the world had contained but one individual, that one person would have been the sole possessor of the kingdom of His love. And so wonderful is His love that even among the countless souls of men, He still regards each one as the complete owner of His love's kingdom.

An earthly king cannot recognize, even by sight, the different subjects of his realm. But the Father of the world takes into His embrace of love every son of this boundless universe and makes each one His very son.

We came into this world understanding nothing. At one time we were unconscious like the clods of earth enveloped in darkness. But as we saw the light, love came in and caught us in its embrace. What attraction was there in us at that time for any one to care for us? Yet, long before we were born, God had sent love into the heart of the mother and that love shielded us from all danger. God gave us milk from our mother's breast and love from our mother's heart. We did not ask for His love, it came off itself and possessed us, long before we loved Him. He was our father and our mother and our all. Now that we have come to know and love Him. He is the same Lover and will remain eternally the same. Our part is to feel, evermore clearly, the breadth of God's love and to give, evermore freely, our own love in return. With His love He has initiated us into the sacred service of the world through suffering and pain. Even now we are becoming ready to dwell with Him in the eternal fulness of His love.

God has prepared His answer to our prayers even before we have uttered them. He has dispensed for us all the things we desire, even before we have consciously desired them. The width of His love is incomparably greater than this narrow world. Here in this life the things from which we expect the greatest benefit disappoint us. Even those who most care for us give us cruel suffering. Only by resting upon the unchanging love of God we can get beyond the hardness and the cruelty of the world. Weak, and selfish men—each intent upon his own interest not considering the needs of others—such a world as this, cannot bring us deliverence.

But in the deep realization of God's presence there is peace. He has satisfied the longing for love in our hearts by the gift of His own love. We may receive in the world all kinds of blows which give us pain, but in His presence there is peace. We know from experience that we have to return again and again from those to whom we go for the satisfaction of our earthly love, to the one life-long Companion. In dependence on Him we are free.

He is our Supreme Friend, the God Who is worthy of our worship, the Fulfilment of all our desires.

PRAYER.

O God, fill our hearts to the full with Thine eternal love, so that we may ever gaze upon Thy face and be united with Thy sovereign will. Chasten us a thousand times if we transgress against Thee; only forsake us not. O dearest Friend, without Thee life is meaningless and void.

(Translated, with abridgment, from the Bengali by Maharishi Devendranath Tagore.)

PREFACE.

The increasing demand for this book, as evinced by the rapid sale of the last edition and the eminent success thereof proved by its being recognized by several Provincial Governments and Native States, and the continuously growing demand of Government officers and the general public, encouraged us to bring out this larger and improved edition which in its entirety surpasses the previous two editions. It has been thoroughly revised and to enhance its utility and make it Vade-Mecum for all account offices, Banks, Firms etc., new tables have been introduced and others have been partly improved and partly omitted to give place to better ones.

The Government of India having sanctioned Times scales of pay in all Government offices, and the Railway, Military and other kindred departments being in need of hours calculations placed side by side on the top of Salary tables, and Native States and Residencies desiring to have ready calculations for a month of 32 days also, and the Banks, big Firms, Pleaders and Civil Courts requiring interest tables to be extended, the necessity for this edition was obviously and keenly felt everywhere to make calculations of interest and to facilitate the most important work of preparing and auditing salary bills of officers and subordinate and menial staff. To comply with all these demands, we have devoted much labour and skill in preparing this edition and finished it after a hard and assiduous labour for about two years.

We are highly indebted to the Governments of various provinces for their generous support they have given by issuing orders to their subordinates to go in for this book whenever they feel a need for a reckoner.

We also beg to express our gratefulness to the District Superintendent of Police, Nadia (Bengal), the Mamlatdar of Akola (Bombay) and the Deputy Commissioner Drug (C P.) for their kind suggestions to increase the usefulness of this book.

In issuing this third edition very important and upto-date additions and alterations have been made to add to the usefulness of this book.

Further it would be unfair on our part if we neglect our friends without tendering our grateful thanks to them for the interest they have ungrudgingly taken in the improvement of this edition.

The book has been got up in the best style as to printing etc., and a considerable expense has been incurred to render it in every respect worthy of public encouragement.

Considering the large number of pages, nature of work, cost of printing and prices of paper which stand obstinately on a high level. the price of the book has been fixed Rs. 6/-/- (net) per copy, which as compared with the elaborate work done, will, it is hoped, be found most reasonable.

Though every care and precaution has been taken in examining the proofs and securing accuracy, we have to request that any occasional error which may have escaped notice, may be viewed with an indulgent eye and kindly brought to our notice.

It has been our aim from the very start of our business (commenced in 1913) to give BETTER SERVICE to our patrons. Each time when we take a new edition in hand, we spare no pains to introduce every improvement possible to make it upto-date.

In conclusion it is hoped that with the present improvements and additions, this humble work of ours will not only maintain the high reputation which it has already attained but find increasing favour with Government Officers, Banks and the general public and we shall be highly grateful to receive any more suggestions to make the book still more attractive.

N. B.—Under Section 17 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 and rule 54 made thereunder, reduction of tax is made when Margin above a certain limit is small. The accompanying table shows the tax payable (on certain incomes) with reference to Section 17 of the Act.

Rule 54 (SECTION 17)—Section 17 is designed to remedy the anomaly which previously existed where an assessee with an income just in excess of one of the stages in the Finance Act and therefore liable to pay income-tax at a higher rate than if his income were just below that stage, found himself, after the payment of the tax, worse off than he would have been, had his taxable income been below that stage.

N.B.—(1) For converting shillings and pence into decimals of a pound (£), refer to the above table of the given shillings in the line of given pence.

For example, 13 s. 8 d. = ·6833£ and 19 s. 4 d. = ·9666£.

(2) For converting the decimals of £1, into shillings and pence, look in this table for the figure given, which is nearest to the given decimal of £1.

For example, ·5689 of £1 = 11s. 5d. and £ ·4219 = 8s. 5 d.

Note.—(1) Although this table only shows the number of days from any day in one month to the same day in any other month, yet it will effect an appreciable saving of time, when calculating the number of days between Any two dates as for instance, between the 14th January and 27th August, the table shows that there are 212 days from the 14th January (inclusive) to the 14th August (exclusive) and it is simple enough now to add the remaining 14 days, making a total 226.

Note.—(2) One, but not both days inclusive.

Note.—(3) In leap year add one to the number shown in the table only when the period in question includes the 29th February.

Table No. 39—Showing formulæ for calculating the average cost of time-scales of pay.

The average cost of an appointment with progressive or time-scale pay is arrived at by adding to the minimum pay a certain portion of the difference between the minimum and the maximum.

2. The ordinary method of calculating the average pay depends on the number of years taken to rise from the minimum to the maximum, and on the nature of the appointment, i. e., ministerial or non-ministerial.

I. Ministerial (i. e., clerical; also menial like peons).

II. Non-ministerial (i. e., of an administrative or executive character, e. g., I. C. S., I. F. S., P. C. S., Sub-Judges and lower down Police Constable, school teacher, etc.)

3. Under class I, the addition to the minimum pay (vide paragraph 1) is equal to (1) three-fourths (i. e., 45/60) of the difference between minimum and maximum if the period of rise is five years, and (2) one-half (i. e., 30/60) for twenty years.

4. Under class II, the addition to minimum pay (vide paragraph 1) is equal to (1) two-thirds (i. e., 60/90) of the difference if the period of rise is five years and (2) one-half (i. e., 45/90) for twenty years.

5. The scales therefore are :—

Number of years.	Non-ministerial.	Ministerial.	Number of years.	Non-Ministerial.	Ministerial.
0	90-90	60-60	16	49-90	34-60
1	84-90	57-60	17	48-90	33-60
2	78-90	54-60	18	47-90	32-60
3	72-90	51-60	19	46-90	31-60
4	66-90	48-60	20	45-90 (=½)	30-60 (=½)
5	60-90 (=⅔)	45-60 (=¾)	21	44-90	29-60
6	59-90	44-60	22	43-90	28-60
7	58-90	43-60	23	42-90	27-60
8	57-90	42-60	24	41-90	26-60
9	56-90	41-60	25	40-90	25-60
10	55-90	40-60	26	39-90	24-60
11	54-90	39-60	27	38-90	23-60
12	53-90	38-60	28	37-90	22-60
13	52-90	37-60	29	36-90	21-60
14	51-90	36-60	30	35-90	20-60
15	50-90	35-60	...	...	..

Example:

Class II—Pay Rs. 200-25-500 (12 years)—

	Rs.
$@\frac{300}{1} \times \frac{53}{90} = \frac{530}{3}$	176 2/3
Minimum pay. = ...	200
Average pay. ...	376 2/3

Class I—Pay Rs. 250-25-400 (6 years)—

$@\frac{150}{1} \times \frac{44}{60} =$	110
Minimum pay = ...	250
Average pay ...	360

= Difference between minimum and maximum.

Table No. [illegible]—(concluded).

Formula for calculating Average cost of Time-Scales of Pay.

Appendix to the Government of India's Resolution No. F.-40-Ex. 1/27, Finance Department, Dated Simla, the 16th July 1927, and order No. 2055/280-R/2 (F. D.) Dated Nagpur, the 10th August 1927 issued by the Government of Central Provinces.

FORMULA (1)

$$\text{Average page} = \frac{A+B}{2} + \frac{(B-A)}{2}\left[1\ (R+1)\ \left\{\cdot 014 + \frac{1-\cdot 01R}{F-E}\right\}\right]$$

$$\text{Average page} = \frac{A+B}{2} + \frac{(B-A)}{2}\left[1-(R+1)\left\{\cdot 021 + \frac{1-\cdot 015R}{F-E}\right\}\right]$$

In the formulæ (1) and (2),

A = Minimum pay,

B = Maximum pay,

R = Period of rise,

E = Average age at entry in the grade, and

F = Average age at retirement on superannuation pension. This may be taken to be 55 in almost every case unless there are special reasons to take it either at a lower or a higher figure.

FORMULA (3)

$$\text{Average pay} = \frac{A+C}{2} + \frac{(C-A)}{2}\left[1-(S+1)\left\{\cdot 006 + \frac{1-\cdot 004S}{G-E}\right\}\right]$$

In Formula (3).

A = Minimum pay,

C = Pay just before promotion to the second grade,

S = Period of rise from A to C,

E = Average age at entry in the first grade, and

G = Average age at the time of promotion to the second grade.

FORMULA (4)

$$\text{Average pay} = \tfrac{1}{2}\left(A + W_1 B_1 + W_2 B_2 + X_1 C_1 + X_2 C_2\right)$$

Where A = the initial pay of the scale,

B_1, B_2 = the maximum pay of the different Sections of the scale, such as the ordinary scale, the scale for passed clerks,

W_1, W_2 = the proportion of the establishment which would normally be in the different Sections, the maximum pay of which are B_1, B_2 respectively,

C_1, C_2 = the pay at the different efficiency bars, and X_1, X_2 = the proportion of the establishment which would normally be detained at C_1, C_2 respectively.
